

BLISS CARMAN IS AT MCGILL NEXT FRIDAY

Canada's Lyric Poet Will Read His Works

CONVOCATION HALL

Visited the University Last Year and Fascinated His Audience

The famous Canadian poet, Bliss Carman, visited McGill on Friday, and will give a recital of his poetry in the Convocation Hall of the Royal Victoria College.

William Bliss Carman who is ranked as Canada's greatest lyric poet, and one of the most famous poets in the world, was born at Fredericton in 1861. He was educated in the Collegiate School in that city, and later took an Arts course at the University of New Brunswick. He earned his M.A. in 1884, and in 1886 was granted the degree of LL.D. He has also studied in the Universities of Edinburgh and Harvard.

Mr. Carman has had an exceedingly varied career, as at various times he has studied law, practised engineering and taught school. He was also on the Editorial staff of the New York Independent, and has been connected with the Cosmopolitan, the Atlantic Monthly, and the Chicago Chap Book.

Among his best known works are "Low Tide on Grande Pré" and "Pipes of Pan." While his more recent poems are "Ballads and Lyrics" and "Later Poems."

Early in December last year, Bliss Carman paid a visit to McGill, reciting some of his poems in the R.V.C. Convocation Hall, which was filled to its capacity.

His reading consisted of several groups of poems chosen himself for the occasion, and it proved exceedingly interesting to the large crowd present. All his selections contained pictures and thoughts of nature, while in them all was the master touch of one famed as a poet throughout the world.

Mr. Carman is essentially a Canadian poet, practically all his subjects being taken from nature and life in Canada. His description of the Kicking-Horse Pass, "Vancouver" and "Canadian Rivers" which were given last year are splendid examples of his knowledge of Canada, and his ability to detect the beauties of nature through the medium of poetry.

His visit last year was in every way a tremendous success, and all those who did not hear him last year have now a splendid chance of doing so.

In Dr. MacMillan's words he is our "Canadian Post Laureate" who has been our contribution to the developing and beautifying of English verse." Undoubtedly Bliss Carman is one of the finest of Canadian poets, and his reading on Friday gives to McGill students an opportunity to do homage in a small way to whose work is Canada's greatest glory.

FORCED HONEYMOON NEW REMEDY FOR COLLEGE MARRIAGES

When the cupid of the southern colleges shoots his fatal arrow into the ears of campus couples, the security of immediate further education is dangerously threatened. A year's honeymoon outside the realm of the campus is the unalterable sentence decreed upon those matrimonially inclined if they are married while enrolled as students at those institutions. It may be inferred that the effects of matrimony wear off after the first year.

Wellesley college, however, defying all traditions formerly respected by her sister colleges, offers a course in sex and marriage. There, it is reported, the love-lorn and heart-broken students receive due recognition and consideration, for on benches, walks and in secluded nooks, they receive first air rights. Students bow to them, and professors tip their hats, while campus as a whole, looks upon

LAW FACULTY HOLD MOOT COURT TODAY

Will Discuss Quebec Legislation in Law Library

Under the auspices of the McGill Law Faculty, a Moot court will be held in the Law Library at 8 o'clock tonight.

The validity of the Legislation Laws of the Province of Quebec will be challenged and a special appeal is to be made to the privy council. The case in question is that of Burdett v. Robinson, which is to prove of great interest to the entire Quebec Bar.

The attorneys for the appellants are Jack Specter and Hugh O'Donnell; while F. C. Common and A. H. Metcalfe will be the attorneys for the respondents.

Leave has been granted for an appeal to the privy council, and it is probable that the whole conception of legal warfare in Quebec will be overhauled.

A great deal of interest has been shown in the preparation for this Moot court and a large number of law men are expected to be present this evening. Besides McGill men there will be many Quebec barristers at the court, as the subject on hand is of interest to all those connected with law in the Province.

WOMEN DEMANDING DOMINANT HUBBIES

Men want their wives to be their intellectual inferiors and the girls want to be their inferiors, conclusions arrived at in one Sociology class indicates. These opinions were expressed when the professor asked members of the class to describe their ideal of the opposite sex.

One young man started the discussion on the intellect question when he said he didn't care whether his wife was brilliant or not. He wanted to dominate over her intellectual matters.

Most of the girls thought he was just right. Here and there were dissenting voices, but they were soon drowned by the overwhelming majority.

"We want husbands we can look up to and whom we can be proud of. We want men who will protect us and on whom we can depend." These were some of the sentiments expressed.

That Beau Brummel husbands are not especially desired was also disclosed. Those who are neat appearing and who have pleasant personalities are much more preferred. One co-ed wants her husband to be versatile in the arts and in athletics, but she draws a line at his playing a saxophone.

MUSICALE NEXT SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Under Auspices of McGill Music Club

A musicale will be held in the Union Ball-room under the auspices of the McGill Music Club on Sunday, December 14, at 3 P.M. This is an event which is always keenly anticipated by lovers of music in the University.

The Club has sponsored and developed a string quartet, which considering the length of time that it has been practicing will probably become a rival of the much advertised Hart House quartette which gave a concert with explanations here recently.

A number of piano and violin solos are to be played by different members of the club, and those who know the quality of music played by these members know that a programme of great delicacy and taste will be presented. The executive is also trying to arrange for a well-known singer to perform at the recital.

It is interesting to note that the new Knabe grand-piano, purchased from the receipts of the Burke concert, will be used for the first time.

All students are cordially invited to attend and bring any friends who are interested in music or the McGill Music Club. It is a good opportunity to hear and enjoy a programme selected with unusual care and will be presented.

GREAT BRITAIN LEADS IN MEDICAL RESEARCH

Complimenting the University of Michigan on its new hospital, Dr. W. J. Mayo, '33M, characterized the work of the Michigan medical school and that of the University of Minnesota school as essentially the same with the exception of hospital facilities in which he declared that the local institution excelled.

With the development of the course of lectures sponsored and financed by Dr. Mayo of which he gave the opening lecture yesterday, the University will have every advantage now enjoyed by the Minnesota school, according to the famous surgeon.

"Great Britain is the only European country in which the students of medical science have recovered from the work of the world war," stated Dr. Mayo. "At the present time she is the unrivalled leader in this science across the Atlantic although France, Italy and Germany are slowly returning to their pre-war status in medical research."

The peculiarity of the British system, which Dr. Mayo praised, is due to the fact that the medical schools of the nation are either in the same building with the hospitals, or the students are housed in dormitories directly adjoining hospitals. The advantage to the students, according to the doctor, is the fact that the hospital is made the practical laboratory for him where he can test every theory which he learns in the classroom.

Dr. Mayo expressed the hope that the Michigan medical school might be favored with lectures by the eminent physicians of all countries of the world in the years to come through the course which he inaugurated.

PHARMACY PREPARED TO PLAY ARTS TEAM

The Pharmacy basketball team will play the Arts Team this afternoon at 6:15 p.m.

Pharmacy won their first game of the season against Medicine 1, by a score of 41-24 although after a very hard and spirited contest. They will face keen opposition tonight when they play the Arts team, the men are confident that they will put up a good fight.

Last season the Pharmacy Team came out second in the basketball schedule, but after their splendid start this year they are expecting to do even greater things. The men are all in fine condition and well prepared for their match this evening.

A NEW ATTITUDE

Those who have regarded Universities and colleges as passive, somber and church-like institutions hidden among the quiet hills are beginning to change their minds.

Once the student was the center of all University activities. The young adolescent who had yet to grow his first appreciable moustache was the sole Prince in educational life. To-day things are slightly different. The University does not confine itself so completely to the resident student. Virtually all the people of the state are brought into contact with the University.

THE 1925 RED AND WHITE REVUE

FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN IS SUCCESSFUL

Appeal to Professors and Students Met With Ready Response

S. C. A. IN COLLEGE
$3500 Needed to Carry on Work of Next Season

With the close of the week, the Students Christmas Association Financial campaign draws to an end. The appeal for funds to carry on the season work has been well received, the student and faculty lists have both shown very creditable returns.

Each year the S.C.A. appeals to the student body as a whole to aid the Association, the resulting donations defraying a large portion of the next year's expense.

Besides its connection with the Student Christian Movement of Canada and the World Christian Federation, the S.C.A. plays an important part in the every-day life of a university student. Not only does it maintain Strathcona hall, the home of the Association, but it sponsors numerous social and religious gatherings throughout the year.

The Conversa, Free Thanksgiving Dinner to out of town students, and Freshman Reception are all listed in the category of the S. C. A. activities, these are only the more formal activities. A failure to raise sufficient money to carry through the programme would necessitate the discontinuance of the complete work. Study groups are also one of the more important phases in the work of the organization.

The requirements for the coming season total approximately $3,500 of which $1,500 must be obtained from the students.

The professor's campaign has been partially completed. The student's campaign closes Thursday. Class campaigns have been carried out very successfully.

STUDENT DIRECTORY IS ALMOST READY

Books Will be About the Size Of Calendars

To the delinquency of classes in returning their completed lists for the Students' Directory has been added the delay which is considered the prerogative of the printing trade. But proofs have been returned and it is expected that the Directory will be ready by the end of this week.

The size of the Directory will approximate that of the calendars which are issued by each faculty. A general directory of university and allied phone numbers will precede the alphabetical list of students. The latter will include all students and in addition students of the R. V. C., M. S. P. E. and School for graduate Nurses. A copy will be given by the Students' Council to every member of the Students Society of McGill University.

Extension course are gradually extending their spheres of influence over larger areas, the radio is rapidly bringing the voice of the University into thousands of new homes, and news bureaus are becoming increasingly important as factors in bringing University and the people into close contact. Special days are set aside when fathers and mothers of students are invited into the campus. There are homecomings for alumni. While the Royal Highness, the Student, is not neglected, greater attention is given to others.

This is an encouraging tendency. Universities are too often misunderstood, and nothing will do more to bring about an understanding than a real interest in the people of the state.

STEAK DINNER WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Rusty Davis' Orchestra Quickened Mastication and Facilitated Digestion

Yesterday evening the Union resounded to merry music and the clashing of much crockery. Steak dinner tonight traveled for existence, but ere by ere they succumbed to the zinging molars of a huge throng of students. Pierre was at his best and did justice to himself, and those who attended as they wended their way outward with heavy steps and light hearts, agreed heartily that the dinner had been a great success.

Rusty Davis and his orchestra furnished music to soothe the troubled weary mind, and banish dull care. Lined brows grew smooth, and glazed eyes brightened, as the dulcet strains mingled with the undercurrent of mastication. The affair furnished just that relaxation the student seeks, combined with an interesting and most necessary pastime.

When Pierre offers something extraordinary, he never disappoints; the dinners so far have been highly popular and well attended; the friendly atmosphere has been most delightful and prices are moderate.

MANDOLIN CLUB TO BROADCAST

Music From Northern Electric on Sunday

The Mandolin Club held a very successful practice yesterday evening at Peate's Studio, under the direction of Mr. Kent of Ottawa. About fourteen members were present and all are unanimous that the pieces are being played with greater snap and vim than was formerly the case.

Several popular pieces were among those played and these are certain to make a hit with the audiences before whom the Mandolin Club will play.

It was learned that the Mandolin Club is to broadcast selections next Sunday night from the Northern Electric broadcasting station (C. H. T. C.) and in order to add finish to the pieces a practice will be held in the Music Room of the Union on Friday at 5:30 P. M. All members have been requested to be present without fail. Further information will be found in a few days in the "Daily". Keep a sharp look-out for it.

ARTS FRESHMAN DIED YESTERDAY

Herbert Smith Passed Away At General Hospital

A very sad and unexpected death occurred last night when Hubert H. Smith passed away at 9 p.m. in the General Hospital, where he had been taken last Friday.

Smith was a freshman in Arts and a member of the D. U. Fraternity. He is the son of Rev. Lennox Smith of Christ Church Cathedral, Ottawa. He received his secondary education at Ashbury College Ottawa.

He has two brothers, one of whom is L.H. Smith, who is in third year Arts at McGill and the other is at University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville.

Hubert Smith is not very well known in this city, as he had only been at McGill for a few months, but many Montreals have met and known him at his summer home in Cacoma.

The many friends of Hubert Smith in his year and University have expressed their sorrow and wish to sympathize with his parents in their tragic and sudden bereavement.

HEBREW RELIGION AT MACCABAEAN GROUP

"The Origin and Development of the Hebrew Religion" is the topic for discussion at the next meeting of the Maccabean Study Group, which will be held this coming Sunday evening at the Beta Beta Tau Fraternity 683 University St.

The subject will be introduced by I. J. Walner, B.A., Law 127 and A. Edel, Arts 27, who will sketch briefly the history of the Hebrew Religion. As usual all will contribute to the discussion which will follow.

Coming as it does, after "The Origins and Early Life of the Hebrews" which was discussed at the last meeting, this subject is of great interest, and a detailed and helpful discussion of the question is expected.

ADOLESCENCE IS TOPIC OF COURSE

Lectures to Teachers by Dr. J. L. Paton of Manchester

Dr. J. L. Paton, M. A., will give a short course of three lectures for teachers in the Chemistry Building on Thursday Dec. 11th, Monday Dec. 15th and Wednesday, Dec. 17th, at 5:00 P. M. The subject of this course will be "Adolescence." Admission will be free, and the public, as well as teachers, will be welcome.

John Lewis Paton, M. A. (Can. A.B.) the retiring head-master of Manchester Grammar School, has come to Canada for a year on the invitation of the National Council of Education. His career in the educational world in England has been unique, and among many great schoolmasters he has been outstanding. He began his studies at Hille Gymnasium, Germany, proceeding from there to Nottingham Shrewsbury and thence to St. John's College, Cambridge.

Mr. Paton taught at Leeds School, Cambridge. He was a Foral master at Rugby and Head-Master of Manchester for 21 years. He has an intimate and thorough knowledge, not only of the education of his own country, but of the education of the Continent of Europe.

We've heard of the man who was so absent minded that he poured syrup down his back and scratched his pancakes; but how 'bout the man who poured catsup on his shoe laces and tied his spaghetti?

Squire: "Did you send for me, my lord?"

Launcelot: "Yes, make haste, bring me a can opener. I got a flea in my knight clothes."

ANNA PAVLOVA GIVES HER OPINIONS ON THE MODERN DANCES

"This modern dancing? Ah, it is they do you do not go up wild—they rush in twist like wild people!" gesticulated Madame Anna Pavlova, world famous dancer, when asked for her opinion of modern ball-room dancing by a Crimson reporter who interviewed her after the Boston Opera house. "Of course, it matters how you do it. Some are nice, yes, very nice,—but the others they put themselves into it. It must be impersonal." Madame Pavlova was still in the costume she had worn in her last dance, and on her face was the heavy make-up made necessary by her brilliant lighting effects. The dressing room walls were lined with brilliant draperies which had been used earlier in the evening.

"It kills," Madame Pavlova turned to the much-dancing spiritual effect of modern dancing. "It does not raise you as dancing should,—it kills you. I do it myself, one-stop, two-stop, and I see the people in these big hotels, like where I stay, the Plaza, it. When you do it as "I will still go to the big places," she said, "Boston, New York, Chicago. But the smaller ones—ah, I regret—but it is too hard. I cannot. I like them! Some of them are wonderful and like me very much, but I cannot any more."

ITEMS AND METHODS

Many of the greatest and most reputable business concerns in America are to-day praising study and high grade scholarship. They have learned to appreciate the trained mind, and their commendation is based on sound practical reason. They do not laud the man of erudition merely because his mind is full of detailed information. In business there is a continual search for men who have learned to think correctly and who can see life in proper perspective. At present straight thinking is everywhere at a premium.

In laying great emphasis on content rather than on method, our educational system seems to be at fault. Even more than the subject matter, the plan of study is the great determining factor in the actual concrete value of an education. The tendency, to-day, is to prescribe a monumental pile of work for every student, and to get a knowledge of these, sufficient to pass an examination, he often crams it all violently. The result is only a superficial insight into the subject.

The student has only scratched the merest surface, and has missed the treasures below. Insufficient time has not allowed him to probe deeply, and to make the spirit of his studies his own. In many cases a positive hatred of study is the only consequence of the compulsion prescription. Memorizing of countless details and readings has too much taken place of theme work and original thinking.

Education should not be wholly a memory test in names, contexts, dates and definitions. The latter are important only as incidentals, and may be found in any good encyclopaedia. Of far greater, and more permanent value is the formation of habits which look for the basic principles that bind facts together, the ability to find underlying laws. It is in this respect that fault may be found with ordinary examinations. As long detailed tests of memory they are splendid. They measure well the persistent, steady work of many. It is necessary that the memory ability and the qualities of persistence, as well as the information possessed by the student be known. Even a parrot, given time, can learn by rote. Examinations as we know them do not test sufficiently innate ability and clear original thinking. There is not time for thinking if the many facts called for are all written.

A great percentage of college men, outside of those in the special schools, do not decide to follow teaching careers in their special subjects. This fact should condition much of university work, inasmuch as that which is learned are not as important as the way in which it is learned. The most important requisite is the ability to analyze, to look for fundamentals, to see the relation between cause and effect. Education then should as much as possible be a training in correct, clear thinking. That ability, in whatever subjects it is gained, is more precious than all the information of a special course in itself.

Methods, then, not mere details are what count. The Western Electric Co. advertising in a college paper made this statement: "It doesn't make much difference when you learn to think straight so long as you learn. Develop this ability where and how you will, but develop it—because in the world of affairs they reward it liberally." It is rewarded in every single field of endeavour.

VANDALS AGAIN

A correspondent calls attention to the practice of defacing and stealing posters, prevalent on the campus. If the extent of the vandal's destruction and despicable manifestations of perverted humour ended there, we might resign ourselves to what seems to be the inevitable. But the scope of the moron is much larger. He comes to a lecture without an overcoat and surreptitiously departs clothed in the best that is of easy access. He picks up a stray note-book and pays no attention to the lost and found column afterwards. He carves vulgar imagery on walls and desks. He purloins text-books from the library. Outwardly he is "smooth". Inwardly he is comparable to any piece of machinery—material structure with no conscience. His actions are not motivated by an ethical outlook. His moral development has not kept pace with his educational. Rather the two follow rapidly diverging lines. He is probably a relic of unscrupulous ancestors.

What can be done to eradicate the pest from a university where his actions are particularly out of place? Ostracize him from the society of decent people would be the proper punishment. But the vandal's methods are too subtle to leave any incriminating evidence. Our predecessors found no efficient means of detecting him, or preventing his work. There seems little likelihood that the present-day students can accomplish this. In fact we might well throw our hands up helplessly and hope for better times.

CONDENSED COMMENT

Hubert H. Smith, a student in the first year of his Arts course, passed away suddenly last night. With a splendid foundation for advanced studies, Smith came to McGill in October from the city of Ottawa. During his brief period spent here as a McGill student he made many friends and manifested nothing but the finest qualities of a gentleman. His untimely death is sincerely regretted by all who knew him.

BASKETBALL MEN DISCUSS PROBLEMS

Freshman-Sophomore Representatives Met Yesterday Afternoon

Class representatives of the Freshman-Sophomore basketball league met in the Union yesterday evening at 5 o'clock, and although only two questions were discussed, both were of importance to the success of the league.

One was the requirement that men being physically examined before playing. This is absolutely necessary, and it was pointed out that any man playing without first having been physically examined, would be suspended for the remainder of the playing season.

The other question was one which, as general rules, does not need to be discussed in any league, where a game is played for its own sake. That was the question of rough play, which was quite evident in the Commerce 1-Seleas 1 game on last Friday. There was considerable sharp talk to the referee during the play, and the game ended in Crofton of Comm. 1, trying to impress upon the referee by force that he was unfairly put out of the game for personal fouls. This happened while the referee was being held by one or two sensible heads who were trying to avert trouble. The committee decided to suspend Crofton for the rest of the basketball season. No set rule was made as to what will be done with further offenders, because no repetition of such an occurrence is expected. In case of repetition, each case will be dealt with individually with the most severity.

LOOSE ENDS

(URGE)

With apologies to Maxim Gorky

I am at a loose end. In fact I am at several ends. So does everybody these days. That does not improve my lot. I am wretched. The snow is falling fast without a thawing. It is melting. The sidewalks are slippery. To-morrow the January column will be doubled. More tragedy. I am sick of it. I have not eaten for two days. An untasted glass of Scotch sits on the table. Something is wrong with me. I have no taste for anything. The session draws on. So does the professor. Christmas is coming. So is Santa-Claus. The days are endless. I pray for the end. I have it. I am at a loose end now. I am at several loose ends. It might be worse. It might be the ropes end. Would it be worse? I doubt it. I think I shall die. On second thoughts I won't. I wish I were a prof. I wonder if they are ever at a loose end. On second thoughts I am glad I'm not a prof. Things might be worse. Meanwhile the snow falls. Why does the snow? I don't know. The effort is too much. I laugh. I was just thinking To-morrow I may start studying. I may. I must not think it is too much. Wise men never think. I must act - act that's it. Why the spam. I cannot act. I am, I may say at a loose end.

SENIOR RUGBY MEN BANQUETED AT RITZ

Fine Speeches at Annual Dinner Yesterday

A large number of men were present and many toasts were proposed. Among these were "The King" by George McDonald, "Our Alma Mater" by Campbell Cope, replied to by Sir Arthur Currie, "Our Ancient Rivals" by M. A. A. A., by Philipott, replied to by Frank McGill, "The Team" by "Pud" Argue, replied to by "Bones" Little, "Our Captain" by Art Manson replied to by Little, and "Our Coach" by Dr. Tees, replied to by Mr. Shaughnessy.

"Bones" Little made a presentation to "Shaugh" on behalf of the team, and he himself was presented by a small ring, a token from the coach.

Several of the speakers hoped upon the fact that there would be ten regulars back next year, as long as the men got right down to work and got through without any aups.

Gordie Hughes and Murphy were in charge of the dinner. Excellent entertainment on the piano was provided by Brewer.

FIRST MEET OF SNOWSHOE CLUB

Events Arranged for This Year's Intercollegiate Competition

The McGill Ski and Snowshoe Club held its first general meeting at the McGill Union last night, and an enthusiastic number attended.

The meeting was called to order by T. M. Brown, President of the club. The treasurer's report was read and showed a surplus from last year of $15.00.

A letter from the Chateau Frontenac hotel, Quebec city, was read, in which an invitation was extended to McGill to enter a team of four men in an intercollegiate meet to be held there during the Christmas holidays. A motion to accept this invitation was carried.

Under new business, the president gave a short outline of the Intercollegiate Winter Sports Union, which was formed last winter, and its relation to the activities of the McGill Ski and Snowshoe Club. What was formerly the McGill College ski and snowshoe meet, will now be combined with a Canadian Divisional meet, to take place about the end of January. This meet will serve as a good try-out for the different Canadian colleges, and enable them to select their best men for the Championship meet in February.

In regard to the question of fees for the year 1924-25, it was decided to leave the membership fee at fifty cents as in previous years.

Two skating events are added to this year's competition as compared to last year, and it was pointed out that all those who have done any speed or fancy skating should not fail to get in touch with H. Elliott, Med. '29, the manager of the club.

	1st	2nd	3rd	4th
Ski Cross Country
7 miles	10	6	4	2
Ski Jumping	10	6	4	2
Ski Race - 2 miles	7	3	2	1
Ski Proficiency	7	3	2	1
Snowshoe race 3 miles	7	3	2	1
Snowshoe dash	7	3	2	1
Speed Skating
1-2 mile	5	3	2	1

Owing to the addition of skating events, it was decided to change the name McGill Ski and Snowshoe Club to McGill Winter Outing Club. A suitable crest bearing the new name is being made.

BOXERS TRAINING FOR COMING B.W. AND F. MEET

Coach Ernie Robinson had his squad of scrappers at Molson's Hall yesterday evening and put them through a stiff work-out. Many of the new men are fast rounding into shape, and will be in excellent condition for their bouts for the Gun Trophy, in which competition, quite a number have signified their intention of competing. Several also have aspirations of making the McGill team in the coming B.W. and F. meet.

Shipping and calisthenics were gone through, followed by a few rounds of boxing. This ended practice for the afternoon.

STUDENT WANDERER'S HOBO EXPERIENCE

Search for experience led a student of one of the southern universities to follow the life of a "knight of the long and dusty road" for two years in practically every state in the Union before he entered college.

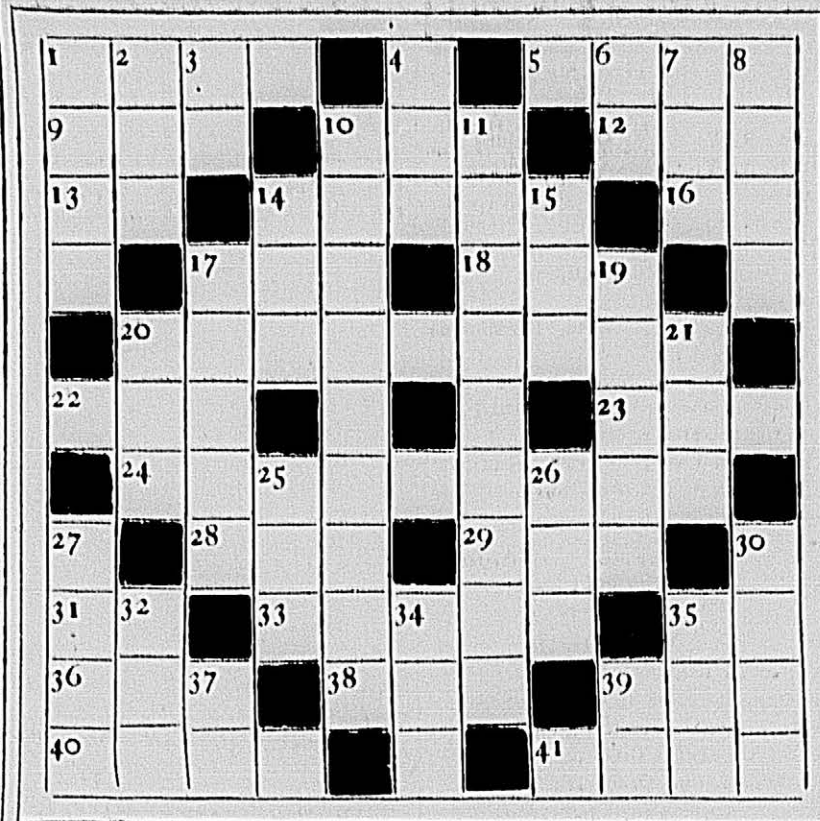

He found experience—found it by working at anything from dishwasher in a midnight cafe in Hollywood to a ship messboy on the Atlantic.

He found it in the "jungles" near the railroad tracks on the outskirts of towns, where the hoboes build their fires. Swap stories of strange palces and occurrences, and decide how the world can be made better.

The adventurer says the hoboes are inclined to be radical in their political tendencies and they carry their convictions into everyday life. When a dusty "traveler" arrives at the "hobo's sanctuary," penniless and with an empty pocket, he is reasonably certain to find someone who can manage to produce a bit of coffee or who will even share the little money he may possess.

In the more frequented "jungles" he

B.W. AND F. PLAN INVITATION MEET

City Clubs Invited to Enter Men

Another meet will make its appearance under the auspices of the B. W. and F. Club; this time taking the form of an "Invitation Meet." The event is scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 18th. All prominent athletic clubs and associations have been invited to send boxers and wrestlers.

It is planned to have one delegate for boxing and one delegate for wrestling from each club, thus making up one complete team in the following grades: 112 lbs, 118 lbs, 126 lbs, 147 lbs, 158 lbs, 175 lbs, and heavyweight. Against this selected team a McGill squad will be put, and as a result the college boxers and wrestlers will have a chance to come up against many former city champions.

The popularity of the previous meet will prove a sufficient guarantee for the coming contests, and as a result a large crowd of spectators has been anticipated.

gumbled to barren intellectualism. Conversation, if there must be such at breakfast, should be bantering in tone. It is precisely this gift of airy periphrasis which tends to vanish in the frigid atmosphere of higher thinking. It is an art, no doubt, to speak intelligently of the illimitable cosmos, one from which much pleasure may accrue. But, the art of being delicately obscure requires even more subtle penetration and in the long run adds more to the humdrum routine of life. Confucianism, proportional representation, and free verse are valuable additions to human thought, but more mundane experiences such as eating and drinking should not therefore be scorned as mere hangovers of our animal inheritance. If taken in the proper spirit they often prove delightfully jovial pastimes—ends in themselves from the sheer pleasure to be derived. Therefore the moral of all this is, beer and skittles are not incompatible with the higher life. Passionate love of abstract beauty can easily go hand in hand with a hearty appetite.

FENCING PRACTICE HELD LAST NIGHT

New Men subjected to Rigorous Training

Fifteen men turned up last night for fencing practice, and were put through a strenuous review, although attendance is smaller than at the beginning of the season, most of the men are promising and much is expected from those in the freshman years. Coach Rabinovitch is seeking stars to replace last year's best, who these must be developed in time for the intercollegiate bouts. Silverstone gained the championship last year for McGill. If, as it is rumored, a fencing two meet is held, a splendid opportunity will be given the newcomers. The coach is reliant on the subject, but appears well pleased with the material on hand.

ECKLIN WINS 135 LB. TYRO TITLE IN BOXING

The last bout of the Tyro Meet, the 135 lb. bout was fought yesterday afternoon between Robertson and Ecklin. This bout had been held over from Saturday because both men fought in the semifinals that day. Robertson started off with a rush at the first bell and forced the fight all through the first round. Ecklin guarded cleverly and scored several telling punches at one time putting Robertson down for the count of eight. In the second and third frames Ecklin piled up a big lead in points his opponent hovering most of the time having used up most of his wind in the first round! The list of winners in the Tyro Meet is now complete Ecklin gaining the only title not decided Saturday.

A STRANGER AT MCGILL

The following is an extract from a letter received by the editor from a former Dalhousian: "McGill is a peach among colleges." I am simply reeling in her associations and tasks. I look forward eagerly to the day when I can come to her to stay. Every feeling of strangeness has passed from me and I feel a bona fide member of the Red and White family. No place that I have known has so absorbed my interests; I am heart and soul in my work and study here. We wonder if Dalhousians ever become so enthusiastic about their university.

The Editor
McGill Daily

Dear Sirs—I would like to state a few facts regarding the posters made by R. V. C. students, which are evidently not known to the student body as a whole. The posters are made for two reasons first: first to advertise the activities of the various R. V. C. societies, and second to be entered in the poster competition, which the Delta Sigma Society holds every year. The posters have continually disappeared. Last year no less than thirteen were stolen, there is no other word for it, and two of the thirteen were done by the girl, who won the competition the year before. She was obviously unable to enter the competition last year.

This year as yet none have been taken but something just as contemptible has been done. Some budding artists have tried to improve, without success, on two posters which were put up on in the union and one in the Engineering building.

These posters are the property of the Delta Sigma Society and must be treated as such.

A word to the wise is sufficient.

Yours truly

Sirs—With reference to your article on Nobel Prize Awards, in today's "Daily," kindly allow me to point out that Tagore is not an Englishman, but a Hindu.

It is also interesting to note that Kipling the English winner was born in India and worked there for quite a long time. With thanks in advance
